

FIGHTING IS RENEWED BY MINERS

In the Strike Zone of the Southern Colorado Coal Fields

MILITIAMEN ATTACKED

By 400 Strikers Who Were Entrenched in Rifle Pits—Soldiers Were Greatly Outnumbered—9 Identified Dead Reported Yesterday.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Denver, Colo., April 30.—Nine identified dead and probably many more whose death was not reported was the result of the fighting yesterday and last night in the strike zone of the southern Colorado coal fields. The killing of Major P. P. Lester, a prominent physician of Walsenburg, while trying to save the life of a wounded guardsman, was one of the agencies which added to the tense feeling today. Thirty soldiers who had served in the militia under Major Lester, forgot their alleged grievance against the state, on account of not receiving back pay and late last night went to Walsenburg to offer their services in any further conflict with the strikers.

The battle at Forbes, where seven mine guards and two strikers were known to have been killed, caused state officials to take drastic action immediately to prevent further bloodshed. For this work, Governor Ammons looks to the United States troops who now occupy parts of the strikers entrenched in rifle pits between Forbes and Canon City, Fremont county yesterday, and took charge of affairs in that section, which earlier in the week was the scene of desperate fighting.

The battle at Walsenburg yesterday was between one hundred state soldiers, divided into two commands of about fifty each, and more than 400 strikers entrenched in rifle pits beyond the lava formation of the hills which form a semi-circle around Walsenburg north to south for a distance of three miles. The militia has started to the Walsenburg mine at the far end of the ridge, to aid in the defense of that property.

Under Lieut. Scott, one detachment advanced along the hills. Captain Swope commanded the other, which followed a valley across an arroyo from the first detail, and at considerable distance in the rear. The soldiers were armed with rifles and service revolvers and proceeded without thought of attack.

Suddenly from the rifle pits came a rain of bullets over their heads. Lieut. Scott drew his men up in fighting line and ordered the fire returned. Soon he saw that the attacking force greatly outnumbered his men, and they had the advantage of the natural fortification and he ordered his men into the arroyo. Captain Swope hurried to reinforce the vanguard, his men firing as they ran.

When the two commands joined they gradually withdrew from the arroyo and advanced upon the trenches.

Then, from the south, came a small command under Captain Barrett, hurrying to relieve them. Capt. Swope deployed his men back to the north flank of the strikers, who faced fire from three sides. Finally Horace N. Hawkins, an attorney in Denver for the United Mine Workers of America who was in telephone communication with the strikers, called upon Colonel Verdeckberg in Walsenburg to agree to an hour's truce, to consider terms of surrender. It was said the strikers agreed to deliver their arms to the soldiers providing they were not held prisoners. To this, it was said Colonel Verdeckberg agreed. It was arranged that seven officers were to go forward to receive the arms of the strikers as they filed past.

Colonel Verdeckberg so informed the militia, and they ceased firing. The officers, it was stated, advanced a considerable distance and the strikers left their position, passed the militia, and then renewed firing.

It was at this moment that Major Lester was killed. During the lull in battle he had gone forward to the aid of Private Glen Miller, who had

Relief Parties Are Searching For Bodies Of Entombed Miners

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Eccles, W. Va., April 30.—Fifty or more trained miners, working under direction of their chief, J. A. Holmes, who is on the ground, today sought the bodies of 172 miners entombed in mine No. 5, of the New River Collieries Co., last Tuesday. Six bodies were found at the bottom of the shaft. Others located will not be brought out until tonight. Reports from the mine were that many bodies had been found, but so far there was no indication that many of the miners had escaped the explosion and its deadly after-damp. Water was found in some entries, but the engineers hope to have them cleared by evening. It is estimated that two days must elapse before the entire mine is explored and the dead recovered.

Dr. Charles P. Neill, former United States commissioner of labor, but now general welfare agent of the Guggenheim interests, arrived today to provide permanent relief for the families of the dead.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Eccles, W. Va., April 30.—After 24 hours of exhausting effort, Chief Henry and a party of West Virginia mine inspectors early today reached the bottom of shaft No. 5, of the New River Collieries company where 178 miners were buried by an explosion last Tuesday, they found little gas and no damp and accepted the belief that the conditions were such that some of the entombed miners may be still alive.

All night long the inspectors had worked in the shaft, 125 feet from the bottom, clearing away the debris and straightening the leads on which the cage is operated. The best workmen in the whole district were called into service, but it was almost daybreak when the news came from the tipple that the cage was on its way to the bottom. The inspection at the bottom was brief, and tired inspectors were hoisted to the top to prepare for the further exploration.

FIRES SHOTS AT WIFE AND NIECE; KILLS HIMSELF

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Toledo, April 30.—After his wife from whom he was separated had refused to accede to his request for a reconciliation, Charles Lantz 52, drew a revolver and fired a shot at Mrs. Lantz early this morning while she was talking to her husband at the back door of her home.

Following the frightened woman, who ran screaming into the house, Lantz attacked his wife's niece Miss Lottie Persin, 25, who ran to her aunt's assistance. After knocking the young woman down with the butt of his revolver, the man shot Miss Persin twice and then ran into the alley back of the house where he ended his life by firing two bullets into his head. Miss Persin was shot once through the right arm near the shoulder and the other bullet grazed the right side of her head. The bullet Lantz fired at his wife passed through the sleeve of the woman's night gown, grazed her left arm and entered the kitchen wall.

LILLIAN NORDICA IS DYING IN JAVA

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Batavia, Java, April 30.—Madame Lillian Nordica, who arrived here quite ill nearly a month ago, has had a relapse and is sinking. The doctors give up all hope of her recovery. She had engaged passage for Genoa where her husband, George W. Young, of New York, had expected to meet her.

TEDDY DISCOVERS ANOTHER TRIBE OF INDIANS IN BRAZIL

New York, April 30.—The discovery of a new tribe of Indians in Brazil, announced in a Rio Janeiro dispatch, had been predicted by scientists according to anthropological authorities of the American Museum of Natural History.

The probability of the discovery of one or more new tribes in the Amazon region was pointed out a year ago by the late Prof. Alexander Chamberlain of Clark University.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

tion that was to begin as soon as the rescue men could be taken down. Chief Henry said that he did not think that the mine was on fire at any point and that he expected to find some of the men alive.

All night long the throng of waiting people kept their places on the mountainside. Many of the mines in the district closed yesterday, and the miners and their families joined the people of stricken Eccles in their weary wait for news. Many of the miners have been deputized by the sheriff to assist in keeping back crowds and controlling the situation when the real extent of the catastrophe becomes known.

Governor Hatfield, who returned to Charleston last night is expected here today, and will personally assume charge of the doctors who have hurried here to care for such of the men as may be brought out of the mine alive.

Soon after 8 o'clock J. W. Paul, chief engineer of the Pittsburgh station of the bureau of mines, descended the shaft in company with government men from the other two crews here. They had proceeded only a short distance from the bottom when they found six bodies huddled together and so badly burned that identification was impossible. Penetrating further into the galleries they located other bodies, and the work was temporarily suspended while a man was sent to the surface to prepare the crowd for the news. Soon after the first bodies were hoisted out and placed in a temporary morgue.

The crowd made a rush for the tipple, but was held back by deputy sheriffs and guards.

Fans were at once started in the hope that the entries could be cleared of such gas as remained after the explosion and the pumps set in motion so that the rescue parties could reach the farthest recess of the mine. It is thought by this afternoon progress will be such as to determine definitely whether any of the miners escaped.

LOOK OUT FOR FROSTS OVER STATE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Columbus, April 30.—If the cloudy conditions continue, as J. Warren Smith, official forecaster for Ohio, thinks they will, temperatures will not go down much farther than between 35 or 40, which of course, will not bring frosts tonight. If, however, the weather clears, as is entirely possible, temperatures will be below freezing in northern Ohio tonight, and close to freezing in central and southern Ohio.

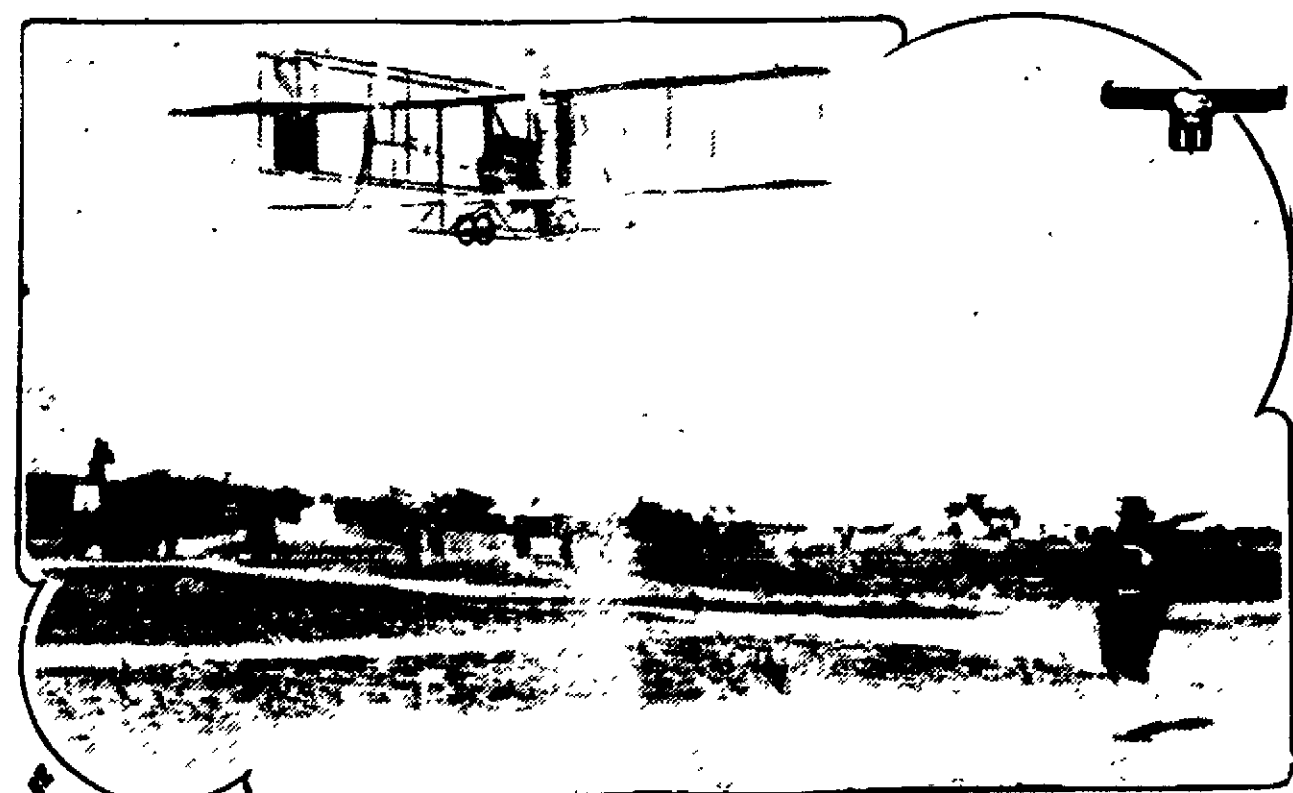

The lowest reported in the state last night was 38, from Canton, Cleveland, Toledo and Wauson. The official prediction calls for unsettled weather and continued cool tonight and Friday. If conditions grow dangerous to fruits and other vegetation, later in the day, warnings will be sent out by Prof. Smith to orchardists and gardeners in all parts of the state. The weather stations are of the utmost service and usefulness at this time of the year, in aiding fruit and truck men to save their crops by artificial heating and other methods.

SCOUTING TRIP MADE BY ARMY AIRMAN AT VERA CRUZ PROVES VALUE OF WARPLANES; U. S. MILITARY MEN WELL SATISFIED

U. S. warplane in action. Uncle Sam's military men are highly pleased over the success of the first actual reconnoitering trip of an army airplane in war time—the flight of Capt. John H. Towers over the city of Vera Cruz and country to the west of it. This trip proved that aeroplanes may be of great value in connection with military operations.

CARRANZA FACTOR IN MEDIATION

Envoys Request Armistice Between Huerta and Northern Rebels

MAY END LONG STRIFE

Rebel Leader Accepts Mediation and News is Pleasing to President Wilson and Sen. Bryan as Vexing Problem May Now Be Settled

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, April 30.—It was asserted here on unquestionable authority that the South American envoys who are seeking to avert a crisis in Mexico have appealed to European governments for friendly offices to facilitate mediation between Mexico and the United States. The appeal, it was stated, did not include a request, as reported from abroad, that the powers use their influence upon President Wilson to name conditions which would insure success of the negotiations.

The request of the powers, it is declared already, has borne fruit, as several diplomatic representatives of European nations have consulted with Secretary of State Bryan with relation to the negotiations. Denials of previous reports from abroad with regard to this matter, it was pointed out, were based on the report that the powers had been asked to insist upon a modification of the attitude of the United States. Officials here, who are in touch with the negotiations insist that such action was not even considered, and that the friendly offices of some of the European governments had been extended before the mediation envoys made general request. It is believed here that any step taken by the European governments probably would be limiting to emphasize through their representatives here hope that the mediation would be successful and their desire to facilitate this purpose. There was no desire, it was said, on the part of these governments to interfere with the policy of President Wilson.

The mediation envoys, Ambassador Dagama, of Brazil, minister Naon of Argentina and Minister Suarez of Chile, renewed their conferences today after the Brazilian ambassador had conferred with Robert Lansing, counselor of the state department.

Up to noon, no announcement had been made by the envoys but it was generally expected that some definite information regarding the next step in the negotiations soon would be forthcoming. President Wilson indicated in talks with callers during the morning that he was very hopeful of the situation. The acceptance by Carranza of the principle of mediation after he had conferred with General Villa at Chihuahua, is regarded in administration circles as significant.

With the exception of the constitutional forces, a general truce, as desired by the mediators, is believed to be in operation at present, although its terms have not been defined nor in fact has there been any formal acceptance on the part of any of the principals.

It also was learned that a proposal to General Carranza as head of the

Mr. Kibler a Candidate For Judge Court of Appeals

HONORABLE EDWARD KIBLER.

Hon. Edward Kibler, a leader among Newark lawyers, former president of the Ohio State Bar association, for four years' president of the Newark Board of Education, and for two years one of the two members of the Ohio Municipal Code Commission, is a candidate for judge of the Court of Appeals.

Several months ago the Licking County Bar association unanimously expressed the hope that Mr. Kibler would become a candidate and pledged him support. Since then Mr. Kibler has had the matter under advisement. Friends here and throughout the district comprising 15 counties, have urged him to seek the nomination, but not until today did he consent to make the race.

Mr. Kibler is an experienced and talented lawyer with a record of 32 years of active service to his credit. He is now in the prime of life, full of mental and physical vigor. He is a Wooster college man and he combines with a legal and literary mind a keen business insight. Mr. Kibler is a man of high ideals and purposes. He is the son of former Circuit Judge Chas. H. Kibler of this city.

First Day's Work In Board of Trade Canvass Is Very Encouraging

The first day's work of the present committee which is soliciting citizens to contribute to the Board of Trade's factory fund is a matter of history, and it makes pleasant reading. The committee met encouragement at nearly every turn and the net result was an inspiration for the continuance of the work with sustained vigor until the result is raised.

It is sought to impress upon every citizen that the amount he is asked to contribute, as based upon the real estate tax duplicate, upon which his name appears, IS IN NO FORM A TAX. It is a voluntary contribution in every sense of the word, and the TAX DUPLICATE WAS USED ENTIRELY AS AN AID TO THE COMMITTEE IN FORMING AN ESTIMATE OF PROPORTIONS WHICH EACH ONE IS DESIRED TO CONTRIBUTE, in relation to his interest in the city and the BENEFITS THAT ARE EXPECTED TO ACCRUE TO HIM THROUGH THE WORKING OUT OF THE PLAN FOR INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT OF NEWARK.

The appeal is made direct to a man's sense of right citizenship, and his relation to it. Each one's position in his community is made for him. By his conduct, energy, thrift, industry and success he takes a place, which brings also a moral responsibility. Others look up to him, his methods are emulated, his character as a citizen is the subject of comment, which he should at all times be careful it should be favorable. THE TRUE MAN WILL NOT SHRINK THIS RESPONSIBILITY, BUT GLADLY ASSUME IT. His acts are bound to influence others, and this influence should be for the best.

Now to apply this rule to the Board of Trade's plan:

IT IS NOT POSSIBLE that the man who has the best interests of the city at heart, CAN DO ANYTHING BUT APPROVE THIS PLAN. If this is true it follows that he SHOULD ACT UPON THIS consciousness and at once subscribe and become a part in its development. It is not only the PROPER COURSE FOR HIM TO PURSUE, but the reaction will be apparent UPON OTHERS IN HIS COMMUNITY AND THEY WILL BE ENCOURAGED TO DO LIKEWISE.

Already the committee which is soliciting the business men, apart from the present workers, who are calling upon those whose desired contribution is based upon the tax duplicate, has met with flattering success and has raised a considerable sum in the one day's work.

THE CAMPAIGN IS IN FULL SWING. DO YOUR PART AND SUCCESS IS ASSURED.

REBELS CONTROL ENTIRE FRONTIER NORTHERN MEXICO

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Brownsville, Texas, April 30.—For the first time during the present revolution, Mexican constitutionalists today were in control of the entire northern frontier of Mexico divided by the Rio Grande from Texas. The territory is 800 miles long and includes four strategic garrison towns. The rebels completed their control of the section this week when Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras were occupied without resistance. Previously Matamoros, opposite Brownsville, at the mouth of the Rio Grande, and Juarez, were the important northern points under the sway of Venustiano Carranza. The federal garrisons of Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras evacuated after United States forces landed at Vera Cruz.

Besides the four towns, the rebels also hold on the border Las Vacas opposite Del Rio; San Ygnacio, below Nuevo Laredo; Guerrero Mier. Small garrisons hold each town except Piedras Negras, where Col. Murgias has 1200 men. There is not a large federal force north of Saltillo, now that Monterey has fallen and General Guajardo defeated at Aguila.

The remnants of Guajardo's force from Piedras Negras and of the Nuevo Laredo federal garrison are believed to be scattered.

Austria has 74,267 miles of highway. In 1910 the government expended $5,568,290 on roadway maintenance.

FUNSTON RULES AT VERA CRUZ

Civil Government Established Subordinate to Martial Law

MARINES BACK TO SHIPS

Refugees Continue to Arrive and are Sent by Transports to the United States—News of Fighting at Tampico Not Confirmed.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Vera Cruz, April 30.—Vera Cruz went back to civil government today, under the laws of Mexico, administered by American officials. The civil government, however, remained subordinate to martial law while the work of restoring the municipal organization went forward.

General Frederick Funston's brigade trooped off the transports and marched to the sand hill barracks and other quarters to relieve Rear Admiral Fletcher's bluejackets, who went back to the men of war. Funston established his headquarters in the barracks deserted by General Maas and Fletcher withdrew his staff. The marine corps was distributed to work with the army.

Refugees continue to arrive and preparations are being carried forward for their departure. The navy transport Hancock today is lying at Puerto Mexico to take aboard those coming down from Mexico City. She will bring them here for transportation to New Orleans and other ports on the transports Monterey and Morro Castle. Late last night the refugees from Mexico City had not arrived at Puerto Mexico. Continued reports of renewed fighting at Tampico, that the battleships Utah and Florida were being taken in readiness to sail and that the Dixie was loading with marines for that port all lacked official confirmation.

Official circles generally understood some ships might go to Tampico when the crews were full after the complete withdrawal of bluejackets from shore.

Vera Cruz roused from its tropical drowse by the street battle and landing of foreign forces, has gone back to its lethargy, its dancing and its promenading through the plaza.

There are no evidences here that Mexico is in the throes of a crisis, torn within and pressed from without. The inhabitants have taken a new and enlightened view of the Americans. They have learned that the troops have come neither to loot nor ravish, but to govern not harshly but well.

The release of prisoners from the water soaked dungeons of Fort San Juan de Ula, where many came forth blinded from the years spent in darkness, was a revelation of the character and the attitude of the United States.

The progress of mediation is entirely unknown here but is discussed with animation.

General Frederick Funston, commander of the United States troops, and Robert J. Kerr, civil governor of Vera Cruz are gradually assuming control of affairs while the navy, on which public attention has been centered for eight days, is retiring into the background.

Rear Admiral Fletcher is busy preparing for the withdrawal of his men. Funston is getting stores and special detail ashore and Kerr is endeavoring to grasp the intricacies of civil government as conducted by his Mexican predecessors.

The first military hospital was established in the preparatory school building. It is in charge of A. W. Williams, surgeon-major of the Third field hospital corps.

Dr. John Guitierrez of the marine hospital service, is here in charge of quarantine work.

The 700 sacks of mail, about the disposition of which Rear Admiral Fletcher asked Washington, have been delivered to the Mexicans beyond the gap in the railroad line. This was done on instructions from Washington. The scouting work of aviators over and above Vera Cruz continues, but the men in charge are not permitted to carry their investigations far into the interior.

Roy Wilson, ten years of age, possibly regarded by his parents, themselves refugees, as lost, is here in charge of Consul Canada and a few American women have undertaken his care until he rejoined his parents.

LAST PICTURE FRIDAY

The last picture in the Advocate's big Booklovers' contest will appear in Friday's paper. This does not mean that the contest ends at this time, however, for there will still remain at least two weeks in which contestants may obtain back coupons and fill them out, and in which persons who have not even started in the contest may obtain all of the coupons and enter to win one of these 126 prizes totaling in value $2864. Contestants MUST NOT send in their answers until the word is given by the contest editor through the columns of the Advocate. Suitable binders are now being prepared by the Advocate for the convenience of contestants in binding their coupons. These will be ready shortly and may be obtained from the Advocate. Remember there's still plenty of time if you start now.

Clip out your coupons neatly, and fill them out clearly and plainly, remembering that in the event of a tie for any prize between two or more contestants, neatness and clear writing will win the judges' favor. The picture is to be a part of the coupon. Do not detach the coupon from the picture.
Send no answers whatever to the Advocate until the contest is ended by the publication of Picture No. 70. Any answers received before that time will be destroyed and will not be counted. Read the rules carefully.

Rules of the Booklovers' Contest.

Any person may compete in this contest who lives either in Licking, Delaware, Knox, Coshocton, Muskingum, Perry, Fairfield or Franklin counties, Ohio, except employees of the Advocate or members of their families.

Answers to the picture must be written upon the coupon blank which will be printed every day with each picture during the seventy publication days the contest will last. Both picture and blank must be clipped from the paper, and the blank properly filled in with the name of book and the author's name together with the name and address of the contestant written clearly and plainly in the space provided. Not more than one person's name may be written on any coupon.

Each picture will represent the title of only one book, but there may be some pictures that suggest the title of several books. For the benefit of contestants, and to allow for this variety of solution, any contestant may give as many as five answers to any picture, at will, but not more than one solution may be written on any coupon. If the contestant gives two answers as likely to include the correct one, two coupons must be used, if three answers, three coupons, and so on. In each instance, whether the contestant gives one answer or five answers to any picture, both the picture and coupon must be used for each of the answers, and not more than five answers to any picture will be permitted.

If any one of the five answers that may be given to any picture is correct, the contestant will be credited for the correct solution and will not have the incorrect ones counted against his or her chances.

Prizes will be awarded to every contestant, by the Contest Judges, who sends in the largest number of correct answers upon the smallest number of coupons. Thus, if a contestant gives the correct answers to 70 of the pictures and uses only 70 coupons, that contestant will rate higher in the prize awards than one who uses 140 coupons for any higher number up to 70 for supplying the 70 correct answers.

If two or more persons supplying the same number of correct answers, have used the same number of coupons for their answers, the highest rating will be given to the one whose answers are most neatly prepared, in the opinion of the judges.

No contestant will be allowed to submit more than one set of answers, which must include not less than 70 or more than 250 coupons with accompanying pictures.

Positively no solution may be sent in to the Contest Editor until every one of the seventy pictures has been printed. Answers in complete sets, as just specified above, will then be received in the office and should be addressed to "Contest Editor," Booklovers' Contest, Advocate, Newark Ohio. The awards will be made strictly according to the correctness of each set of answers, and the correctness shall be determined by the Finding List, the catalogue issued by us as governing the Booklovers' Contest. This catalogue can be obtained from the Advocate office for 25c (27 cents if by mail), and will include in its 5000 titles every one used in the contest. Awards will be announced in this newspaper after the close of the contest.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush the kidneys at once when Backache or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so that sluggish filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of swelling get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Fear of Whipping Caused Smith Cohen to Run Away; Father Searches All Night

Because his mother promised him a whipping for wading in the creek which she regarded as too cold for the good of his health, Smith Cohen, 13 son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cohen of Spring street, left home Wednesday night shortly after 5 o'clock and had not been found up to noon today when his father started on a search through the country southeast of the city.

The lad appeared at his home about 5 o'clock barefooted, carrying his shoes. His feet and legs were wet and he admitted to his mother that he had been wading in the waters. She told him that he should be punished for his folly and started for the back yard to secure a switch.

Smith started from the front door and started east in Spring street and disappeared completely. For a time Mrs. Cohen thought he would return, but when midnight approached and the boy had not returned, she became alarmed, notified her husband at the glass factory.

Mr. Cohen hurried home, was advised of the situation, started a systematic search for the youngster which failed in results, though it continued all night. All his playmates were communicated with, the police department was asked to assist but without learning that he had been seen, making his way towards Quarry Run, no trace of the boy was secured.

At noon Thursday, Mr. Cohen secured a heavy rig and started to drive through the country southeast of town in the hope that some trace of the boy could be found.

When he left home, Smith wore a gray cap red sweater coat, light short trousers and was barefooted. Any information regarding him will be received by the police department or by Mr. Cohen's home on Spring street.

CANNON TO BE PLACED ON FARM AT BLACK RUN

Washington, April 30.—Representative George White prepared to fortify the entire eastern stretch of the Ohio river yesterday with obsolete cannon now held by the government for distribution as trophies.

He introduced four bills to give cannon and carriages to Frazeysburg, Zanesville, Black Run and McConnelsville.

At Frazeysburg the old cannon is to be mounted in Memorial Park; at Zanesville, in Pioneer park, and at McConnelsville, on the armory lawn. The cannon to be obtained for Black Run is, under the terms of the bill to be placed "near the base of the McKinley and Lincoln statues, on the farm owned by D. B. Baughman, at Black Run, which is being used for reunions and camp fires by civil war veterans.

HUERTA RECALLS SPECIAL AGENT

Who Has Been in Japan Under Assumed Name Purchasing Arms for Mexico.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Tokio, Japan, April 30.—General Velasquez of the Mexican army who has been in Japan on government business has left Yokohama on board the steamer Sefyo Maru for Manzanillo. He has been recalled by Huerta, ostensibly to render assistance in the present crisis.

Under the name of Valero he purchased arms in Japan from private firms for his government.

The Sefyo Maru carried a consignment of provisions for the Japanese cruiser Idzumo which is to remain in Mexican waters.

Japan, there is good reason to believe, is anxious to hold aloof in the Mexican situation. It is declared among diplomats here that she declined to represent Mexico at Washington in the fear that acceptance might be misinterpreted abroad as an indication of unfriendliness to the United States or of special friendliness to Mexico.

NO SETTLEMENT YET IN SIGHT IN COAL SITUATION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, April 30.—There is no change in the situation between the United Mine Workers and the coal operators of Ohio, according to President John Moore of the Ohio miners organization today. Whether a strike will be called by the miners is not yet known, Mr. Moore said.

"A few days ago I sent out letters to the operators of the state asking them to name a date on which they could meet with us to discuss terms of a settlement," said Mr. Moore, "but as yet I have received no replies."

With reference to a report from Bridgeport that C. J. Albasin, president of the sub-district number five would call a strike this evening, Mr. Moore said he had not been informed but added, "I don't think Mr. Albasin made such a statement."

President Moore then explained that no officer of the miners organization in Ohio, either state or district, under present conditions, had authority to call either a state-wide or district strike. Such authority must first be granted by the national organization of the miners with headquarters at Indianapolis, Mr. Moore explained.

The report from Bridgeport said that Mr. Albasin would call a strike of the 16,000 miners in his district tonight.

Ponder This Problem.

Under the law of Harmon's time public service corporations have their taxable values fixed by the State Tax Commission. When that body took hold the gross amount was about $400,000,000. Now it is upward of a billion. They pay the same rate as the fellow with $200 worth of goods and in addition contribute excise taxes to the State treasury. As far as can be discovered this plan is favored by everybody with the exception of some stockholders in these corporations who sigh for the old days when the valuing was done by two or three county auditors.

This being true, why should individuals owning stocks and bonds and other forms of valuable personal property object to having the same rule applied to them? The corporations must throw open their books and account for every penny paid them and every share of stock held upon which they receive dividends. The owner of real estate, not being able to hide his farm or city lot in a safe-deposit box, meets the same inflexible condition. Neither he nor the corporation is permitted to return part of his holdings nor to place a value upon them.

The constitution provides for the same tax upon a $100 cow and a $100 bond or note receivable without regard to whether the animal returns five per cent. upon the investment the same as the note. The farmer cannot conceal his cow, even if tempted by the fact that she is a liability instead of an asset. Why, then, should the note-secreting holder set up the protest that his liberties have been invaded because the old elective assessor whom he could beat, scare or "handle" has been displaced by the appointive assessor who is proof against all these tactics?

Think it over! Those detonating noises you hear every now and then are caused by the Bull Mooseers and the Republicans getting together like colliding locomotives.

All reliable almanacs should show that this is the time to expect Congressmen to be showing up in their districts.

Neither Democrat, nor Republican nor Bull Moose are we but all Americans when the Republic's battle-flag is flying.

On Second Thought

Every young person wishes he could get out of the "dead old town" in which he lives. But those who are older, and who have had more experience, know that towns are surprisingly alike.

Inquiry is also being made for the cook who originated the practice of putting sand in the spinach.

The white man who traded an Indian a string of beads for his heritage has been more or less criticized. But it was an even trade in the respect that each got the thing he wanted most.

A minimum wage for working girls would not only enable them to live more comfortably, but it would also enable them to consult a clairvoyant more frequently.

About the only difference between men and boys is that men are willing to wait until next year and the boys wait it now.

The search for good third basemen never ends.

Your objection to special privilege probably is based on the fact that you are not permitted to enjoy it.

Mud.

The rains of springtime fall upon, recalling Noah's flood, and turn this earth, once pleasant place, into a stretch of mud. The mud is splashing in my clothes, while my eyes with tears, and mud is clinging to my nose, and mud is in my ears. My whiskers catch a lot of mud when down the street I creep, and oft I slip, with dismal thud, into a mud-hole deep. The good roast beef I eat at noon, and even the mealy spud, the pie, the doughnut and the prune, the cake—all taste of mud. From door heels to my diamond stud, the mud upon me shows; my feet, from paddling in the mud, have webs between the toes. But people say, "Cheer up, old soul! It's splendid for the outs! And it will furnish grass for flocks of cows and geese and goats! This mud is what the farmers need, to make their crops thrive; they whistle as they sow their seed—they're glad that they're alive!" I try to think of things like these, and thus cool off my blood, when I am wading to my knees in fifty kinds of mud, but it is all in vain, by heck! I simply can't enthuse, for mud is streaming down my neck, and fills my socks and shoes.

"IN THE DAYS OF HIS YOUTH."

Rev.

The father,.....Phillips Smalley.
The mother,.....A. Graham.
The garden,.....The garden.
The lady,.....A. McNair.

George and Tommy romped downstairs full of boisterous fun, which was checked by the instant they caught a glimpse of their father, buried behind his newspaper at the breakfast table. They stopped quickly and their chairs and barely answered the pleasant remarks made by Miss Hardy, the governess, as she tried to put a bit of family affection into the grim atmosphere. The lady ate cautiously, trying not to clink their spoons against their bowls, but their overcare resulted in over-nervousness and somehow, no one knew just how, the water bottle was upset. The spilled water precipitated confusion, the father angrily left the table after a stinging rebuke to the boys, who went pouting and unhappy to their room.

Miss Hardy, disheartened at the hopelessness of the situation, decided to get out of it. She wrote a note to the boys' father, telling him she could not remain longer, because of his temper, and then she ordered her trunk down from her closet. George had revived from his despondency enough to find a rummage in the garret interesting, so he followed where Miss Hardy's luggage was looked up. Happening to pass the lid of a dusty old trunk he espied a ball, and a football. All the boy in him responded to the subtle appeal of these objects, and in a little time as it takes a boy to get down to a lawn from a garret George was playing ball with his younger brother. It was great sport, and the boys forgot there was anything but play in the world until somehow that erratic ball plunged through a greenhouse window, leaving a jagged gap in the glass. The gardener, who had been idly watching the game, awakened to an active interest now and hailed the young offenders before their father, who immediately came George.

Miss Florence La Badie.

Miss Florence La Badie is a cosmopolitan young person. She was born of French parentage in Montreal and received her education at the convent of Notre Dame. She speaks French and German fluently as well as the English of her adopted country. She has been with the Thanhouser company for three and a half years, playing big rôles, one of the most recent being her appearance as Julie de Montemar, star of the elaborate production of "Cardinal Richelieu's Ward."

former one came to him vividly. He put the cane back, and George stared in amazement. "How would you like to have a game of ball?" queried this unexpectedly kind father. "I used to be pretty good at that sort of thing, and maybe I can give you some pointers."

George was beyond amazement now. He just took his father at his word, and the two, with Miss Hardy and Tommy looking on, were soon merrily at it. It was great sport. Then that erratic ball plunged through a greenhouse window, leaving a jagged rent in the glass. George's face settled into lines of boyish defiance. Slowly he picked up a cane near by and handed it to his father. The father took it, looked at it thoughtfully a moment, handed it to his small son, and assumed the attitude best adapted to the administration of a cane. George took the cane hesitatingly, then dropped it and seized his father's hand. "Gee, but you're a sport," he said. "Let's play some more ball."

"The Vision in the Window."

—Editor.
It was all on account of the beautiful cloak model—not Nellie, the classic, but a handsome confection of paste and paint and the other artificialities out of which window models are made. This creature was arrayed in some of the Emporium's most alluring garments and in the window, where she commanded a coquettish view of the street, she attracted the two country lads, coming to view the sights of the town, speedily captivated the lady, and one of them succumbed to her charms. The film shows his mad efforts to meet her and the amazing results in a very enjoyable fashion.

"Cardinal Richelieu's Ward."

—Thanhouser.

This is an elaborate historical picture of the luxurious and intriguing court of Louis XIII. of France, in which the king and the powerful Cardinal Richelieu play at the game of plot and counterplot with the cardinal's ward, the lovely Julie, impersonated by Miss Florence La Badie, as the goal of the game. The king aspired to Julie's favor, the king's favorite, Count Baradas, loved the lady, as did Adrian de Mauprat, on whom alone Julie looked with favor. The cardinal to protect the girl from the king's advances married her to Mauprat. This did not settle the difficulties, however, for Baradas asked the king to annul the marriage, which he did willingly, thinking to profit thereby himself. Baradas had other schemes afoot than those of love. He aimed to murder Richelieu and depose the king, and succeeded in involving Mauprat in his conspiracy, allotting to him the duty of the actual assassination of the cardinal. Richelieu was a brave man and he faced his assailant down at the critical moment, succeeding finally in showing him that he had been duped by Baradas, and being made to believe in the cardinal's enmity. Richelieu and Mauprat united on the king's side then, cleverly deceived the rest of the conspirators, succeeded in learning the details of the whole plot and the men implicated in it, revealing their information to Louis XIII., who rewarded each generously in the way each most wished. The cardinal received more of the power he craved and Mauprat had his bride restored.

"Nathan Hale."

—Kinemacolor.

In this historical drama, "the spirit of '76 that never dies" is reduced to pictures that have been made with a careful attention to the details of country, costume, and characterizations revealed by the chronicles of that period. The picture-story begins with the summit of Nathan Hale from his country school to the camp of the revolutionists, by the guns of Lexington. His career is followed as he serves Washington, going as a spy into the British lines for information, as he is captured by an old time enemy, and he pays the death penalty for his fearless bravery. A view of his newly made grave, and of the statue erected in his memory in City Hall park, New York, concludes this vivid glimpse of history in the making, 127 years ago.

This is the first of a series of pictures the Kinemacolor people are planning, centering about the main incidents in the lives of great men.

"A Back Yard Theater."

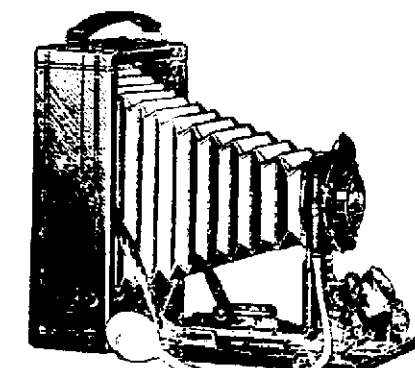

—Keystone.

Here is a genuinely delightful child "comic" that is really funny without making the child players unnatural or overdone. They play their little play as naturally as children ever did who held a show in their back yard for "Admission, 1 cent." It all goes very well, for the players, the audience in the pictures, and the one watching the screen, until the sly of hand man's assistant puts the watch in the pocket of the little boy who is just chased away by an older little boy whom he has outraged on some previous occasion. This accident mars the performance, breaks up the show, in fact, and introduces the elders in the shape of two angry men, who debate heatedly in regard to the watch and their children. It is a very satisfyingly humorous film.

VINCENT ASTOR MARRIED TODAY AT STAATSBURG

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Staatsburg, N. Y., April 30.—William Vincent Astor, son of the late Colonel John Jacob Astor, and Miss Helen Dinsmore Huntington, whom he has known since childhood, were married here shortly after noon today in the big oak paneled library of Hopeland house, home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huntington.

Less than fifty persons witnessed the ceremony and of these three were the superintendents from the Astor, the Huntington and the Dinsmore estates, respectively. The other guests were relatives and friends of the families. Plans had been made for an elaborate church wedding but Mr. Astor's recent illness, which threatened pneumonia made necessary the abandonment of these plans. Eighteen hundred wedding announcements were sent out after today's ceremony.

A fine rain was falling when the few guests from New York City arrived at the 400-acre Huntington estate. Guards had been posted at the entrances, and only those whose credentials were unquestioned were admitted. Mr. Astor himself is a deputy sheriff of Dutchess county and some of his fellow deputies acted as sentinels at the gates.

Green foliage and spring flowers from the Huntington conservatory and from New York hung everywhere throughout the rooms of Hopeland House. Buried in blossoms with here and there a touch of green was the marble mantle piece in the library before which the couple stood.

The bride entered the room on the arm of her father. At her throat gleamed a gorgeous necklace of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal dress was of white tulle, with a train of white satin. Her lace veil had been worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Dinsmore and by her mother before her.

Herman Oelrichs of New York, an old friend of Vincent Astor, was the best man. Miss Alice Huntington, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor, and the little Misses Muriel Astor and Margaret Dows, were flower girls.

A screened orchestra of twenty pieces played the Lohengrin wedding march and the Rev. Charles H. Duncan, rector of St. Margaret's church, Staatsburg, read the Episcopal marriage service. When the pair had knelt before him and had risen man and wife, the wedding party assembled in the "long room" adjoining the library, where a wedding breakfast was served.

Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, mother of the bridegroom, was among the wedding guests. The young widow of Colonel Astor, although invited, was not present. She is in the south.

Vincent Astor is 22 years old, the bride is 20.

Until a week ago the young heir to the vast Astor estate—estimated at from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000—was confined to his room in the Huntington residence. While visiting his fiancée a month ago he became seriously ill with an abscess on the lungs, and for a time there was talk of postponing the wedding. It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Astor will remain at their country home, Ferncliffe, at Rhinebeck, not far from the Huntington place, for at least a month.

At the end of that time they hope that Mr. Astor's health will permit them to have the delayed yachting cruise and to tour Europe with a visit to England at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor.

A holiday was declared at both the Huntington and Astor estates today in celebration of the wedding. For the disappointed servants who did not see the ceremony a special luncheon was served.

The Huntington family declined to give out any list or description of the many and handsome presents received by the bride.

POLICE WATCH FOLLOWERS OF THE BIG SHOW

With the entire day and night force of patrolmen on duty, Police Chief Sheridan Thursday morning gave the men instructions regarding the handling of the crowds for circus day. The officers were stationed on the down town streets during the parade and a detail was sent to the circus grounds to handle the crowds there. Special instructions were given to watch for followers of the big show who are not employed on the grounds and the officers were instructed to arrest and hold for investigation any such followers found.

Chief Sheridan also issued warning to Newark residents to watch for possible burglars which usually worry the police department when a circus shows here. Visitors to the show should also guard against pickpockets which are bound to invest circus crowds despite the efforts of the proprietors of the show to protect their patrons from such annoyances.

Officers were also instructed to be on hand when the crowds leave the grounds for the street cars, to use their efforts to avoid possible accidents.

DOG ON RAMPAGE SUNDAY SUFFERED FROM HYDROPHOBIA

A report from the laboratories of the state department of public health, addressed to Health Officer Knaues and received Thursday morning states that the dog whose head was sent to that department for examination was undeniably suffering from hydrophobia.

This is the dog which ran rampant through the Everett flats, the Talmadge addition and was pursued to a point three miles north of the city last Sunday. During its wild career, it bit a number of other dogs and live stock, among them being a valuable cow owned by James Hamill.

The local health department suggests that all animals known to have been bitten, be observed carefully for indications of the development of the disease, in which case it will be necessary to kill such animals.

The police slaughter of dogs continues merrily and by the middle of the summer it is believed that the decrease in the canine population of the city will be noticeable.

Banking in England.
The system of credit in England is different from that in this country, and the mere fact that a man has an account in a bank serves to give him standing. One cannot open an account with a bank in England merely by carrying money to the bank and depositing it. He must have two first class references before a bank will accept his account, and when reference is given it means that the person giving it would vouch for the person to whom it is given. A reference in England means more than a mere phrase. Checks on banks in England cannot be obtained for the mere asking, and a man must have an account in order to get checks from any bank. They cannot be picked up on bank counters or in public places. Private accounts in English banks are not accepted unless they are paid for, the general charge being $50 a year. There are one or two banks in England which discriminate so carefully in the accounts they accept that when a person is fortunate enough to be permitted to open an account with them he can get credit in any city in England or on the continent of Europe.

Word Painting.
Mrs. Bradley, when questioned by a fellow traveler in the Pullman car in regard to her home, launched forth into a rather long and detailed description of its charms. Her little girl, Grace, who had been reading when she began to speak, soon closed her book and listened with great interest.

"It must be very pleasant," remarked the chance acquaintance, somewhat perfunctorily, when Mrs. Bradley finished, and Grace, her eyes gleaming with enthusiasm, said: "Oh, it must be perfectly lovely! What place is it, mamma?"

"Why, our own home, of course," answered the mother, somewhat embarrassed.

"Oh, dear," said Grace, sighing, "how much better it sounds than it looks!"—Exchange.

Helped the Glass Man.
She entered the hardware store and said to the clerk:

"I want a pane of window glass ten inches by twelve and I want a man to come right over to my house and set it."

"Very well, ma'am," said the clerk, and calling the proprietor to tend the front of the store, he accompanied the woman around the corner to her house, and around the house to the back porch, where she took the mop, smashed it in a perfectly good pane of glass with it, reached through the hole, unlatched the window and said:

"Now go in through the window and unlock the door for me; after that you can put in the new pane and my husband will pay you tomorrow. I left my keys at home when I went calling this afternoon."—Newark News.

Rain Records.
Records of winters in the past bring to light some accounts of excessive rains, for in 1900 a gauge kept at Montecito, in California, registered 153.54 inches. Only at Glenora, Ore., was a record of 167.29 for a single year, has this rainfall record been exceeded in records of the United States. The heaviest rainfall for a single month ever recorded in the United States was at Helen Mine, Cal., in January, 1909, when 71.54 inches fell. Campo has the record for the heaviest downpour ever recorded in California for a single day. This was eleven and a half inches on Aug. 12, 1891, and all of this fell within eighty minutes. This is far below the American record, however, which is held by Alexandria, La., with a record of 21.4 inches in a single day.—Argonaut.

Direct Question.
At a reunion of the Adams family chicken croquettes gave out, so the maids carefully neglected the younger children. After vainly trying to attract the attention of his mother, one of the little boys at the lower end of the table called out in a loud tone of voice, "Mother!"

"What is it, Albert?" she replied.

"Do you think," went on the child, "I should have liked the croquettes if I had had one?"—Lippincott's.

Cannae.
Cannae, where Hannibal won his greatest victory over the Romans, is situated on the opposite side of the peninsula from the city of Rome, on the river Ausubis and about six miles from its mouth. It was from this battle that Hannibal sent to Carthage three bushels of gold rings from the fingers of the Roman knights slain in the battle. Cannae is about 200 miles from Rome.

470 REFUGEES DISEMBARK AT GALVESTON, TEX.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Galveston, April 29.—Galveston welcomes the four hundred and seventy refugees released today from quarantine on board the battleship Connecticut which brought them here last Sunday from Vera Cruz and Tampico. The work of disembarking proceeded slowly and it was long in the morning before the last refugee was brought ashore in the launches that transferred them from the Connecticut, anchored in the lower harbor, to the Galveston piers.

A heavy rain fell during the day and the refugees huddled together on the open decks of the transfer boats, were drenched. Dry clothing was bought at local stores and preparations were made by most of the refugees to depart for their homes on the first train.

The corps of army aviators with Lieut. Foulders of the Seventh infantry in charge, reached Galveston early today on a special train from San Diego, California. The aviators are prepared for scouting duty in Mexico and expect to be sent to Vera Cruz on the next departing transport.

LITTLE DISCUSSIONS OF LOVE AND MARRIAGE

BY BARBARA BOYD

Intellectual Knitting.

"Sometimes, the conceit of myself and my sister women amuses me," laughed the Clubwoman. "We think that with our clubs and our Browning and Ibsen Societies and our votes, we are far ahead of the women of the past; and yet when I think what those women did, I know that as far as I am concerned, I couldn't have handled the problems of their times as well as they did. Don't misunderstand me! I believe in women's clubs and suffrage and all that. But sometimes, I doubt, if the modern woman is so superior to her ancestors as she sometimes thinks."

Grandmother laughed. "Some of us older women sometimes think that, too," she said, gently. "After all, it is all a matter of inevitable progress. And the thing chiefly to be considered in this progress is the making of moral fibre. It is not so much the actual things you do, as it is the character that is made by your doing."

"And that is just what I admire in those women of the past," responded the Clubwoman, warmly. "As I look back to what they accomplished, they become to me positively heroic. It was what I heard about an old lady today that set me thinking about this. She is past eighty, which means that her life was lived in the hardship days of our country's making. She belonged to the pioneer class, and crossed the mountains into the Middle West in a wagon. You know what that sort of life means—cooking with no conveniences whatever for a big hungry family, weaving the linen, making the clothes, even making candles and such things, having a lot of children. And yet with it all she did a certain amount of reading every day. She did it while she was knitting. She had thirty pairs of socks to knit every winter and she knit and read. She propped her books so she could see and she never omitted her daily reading. Undoubtedly this very fact gave a certain intellectual atmosphere to the home and had its influence on the children. Today, her son is one of the biggest men in this country, big I mean, in the fine things he has done for the country, as well as for the fortune he has made. Had I been in her place, I doubt if I would have kept up my reading. I probably would have grumbled a lot about the socks I had to knit, and the bread I had to bake, and the fact that I hadn't time to read. But I doubt if I would have performed my various duties as thoroughly as she did, and in the bargain made the time to read. And so I think these women of the past were in many ways stronger and finer than we are."

"Their life certainly was varied and full," said Grandmother. "But one thing it proves—this woman's, any way—and that is the value of giving some time to things intellectual. She saw the necessity of it, and in spite of all that crowded, she kept that spark alive. And perhaps it is because of this care our ancestors gave this seed that it is bearing such fruitage today. Only, there may be danger of this tree becoming top-heavy with fruit and, not having sufficient roots of its own, of falling over. The women of today may run too much to superficial intellectual life, the chattering from one gathering to another, when they simply sit and drink what another pours. They will grow weak if they do. This woman both knit and read. Many women today are pursuing the intellectual so-called and doing little else. They are doing no work."

"I guess that is what made the women of the past so heroic," mused the Clubwoman. "They accomplished such tremendous all round results."

Tragic Sermon on Fresh Air.
The human corruption and depravity of human nature were perhaps never more clearly brought out than in the historic black hole of Calcutta. That atrocity stands unrivaled in instance of the utmost suffering humanity can endure, passed through by a large number, yet leaving a few survivors to tell the tale. Many more have been slain or executed at one time, death being anticipated, but probably only safe keeping of the prisoners was intended, and only fear of breaking a despot's sleep prevented their earlier release. Yet this torture, "unequaled in history or fiction, whose record cannot be read unmoved after the lapse of 150 years," was produced merely by crowding men together in an ill ventilated room. No fires, racks nor scourges were needed. All that was done or required to be done was to take from each the amount of air and space to which he was accustomed, crush him into close proximity with his fellows, and the thing was accomplished.—From "A Farmer's Notebook."

When They Stoned Actors.
Authors and actors of today have reason to congratulate themselves upon the disuse of many of the ancient Greek methods of showing dissatisfaction in the theater. The worst that a playwright must reckon with now is an ironical cry of "Author!" followed by a boisterous demonstration. But it is on record that the Athenian audience at least once forcibly ejected an unsuccessful comic poet from the theater. The pelting of bad actors with vegetables and questionable eggs is rare now even in the remotest provinces. But the Athenians did not draw the line at figs and olives as missiles. Aeschines was said nearly to have been stoned to death during his stage career, and there is a story of a second rate musician who borrowed a quantity of stone from a friend to build a house with, promising to repay the loan with the stones collected at his next performance.—London Telegraph.

Burma Ruby Mines.
Very little is known about the ruby mines of Mogok, in a valley of Burma, whence come nearly all the large rubies. The valley lies through a forest which is seldom trodden by white people. A few Englishmen who live there have laid out a polo ground, and between this and the town are the mines. The diggings are slowly eating up the village, and the main street is already half destroyed. The work goes on all day and all night, the ruby bearing earth being brought up in iron trolleys. A few strangers who have called at the mines have been told by the officials that they can keep any ruby they may find, but no one has ever been able to find one. The gems are imbedded in the gold colored clay which stretches along the whole of the valley, and it is only after the earth has been washed that the rubies are seen.

Marriage by Halter.
Among ignorant people of English birth it was once the belief that a wife bought with money or goods was legally married if the purchaser led her all the way home by a halter.
Baring Gould, the English antiquarian, told of a village poet known to him who bought a wife for a half crown and led her twelve miles to his cottage. The squire and the rector protested to the village poet that he was not legally wedded.
"Why, yes, I be," he replied. "I'll take my Bible oath I never once took the halter off till she'd crossed the doorsill and the door was shut."

The latest instances of such wife sales occurred in 1558 and 1559, when women were sold in Little Horton and in Dudley. In these cases a blue ribbon took the place of the straw halter.

An Inventor's Hard Luck.
Ill luck was the persistent partner of Samuel Crompton, the inventor of the spinning mule. While Crompton was an infant his father died, leaving the lad to the care of his mother, who insisted upon a daily task of wet spun wool. He detested it and invented the spinning mule to relieve himself of the work. Having invented it he was not lucky enough to find a capitalist to finance him. When he gave a model of his invention to a company of manufacturers a subscription list was opened to recomp him for his losses and several of the subscribers repudiated their signatures.

Diplomatic Letter.
The wayward young man, broken in health, was sent to the southwest to recuperate. He was in jail for stealing a hind quarter of beef. He wrote home: "Dear Mother—I've picked up some flesh since I came here, but am still confined to my room. Please send me $100."—Exchange.

New York Stock.
New York, April 30.—Early movements of stocks today were irregular, and trading was slow. At the opening the market responded to the higher level of prices cabled from London. Acceptance by General Carranza of the mediation proposal also helped the market. Prices were raised fractionally all through the list and the Harrison shares, New York Central, Canadian Pacific and Mexican petroleum showed distinct strength.

The demand was not large, however, and the opening advance was not long maintained. The higher prices brought out increased offerings, under which the market slipped back to a level with yesterday's close or below. Rock Island collaterals were again weak, reaching a new low record at 30 1-8.

Chicago Crop.
Chicago, April 30.—Lower cables emphasizing the favorable crop outlook in this country led today to general selling of wheat. The bears were helped also by reports of further rains in western Kansas where some stations received a half inch more. Prospects of heavy deliveries on May contracts counted too against the bulls. Opened prices were 1-8 to 3-8 @ 1-2 down.

Much of the decline however, was afterwards regained. Holders of corn showed a disposition to liquidate, especially in the May option. Predictions that May deliveries would be on a large scale tended to weaken the market. Prices started 3-4 @ 7-8 off to 1-8 up, and seemed inclined to keep within that range.

Oats sagged with wheat and corn. Besides, plenty of moisture was regarded as a favoring growth. Lower quotations for hogs made the provision market easy. First sales varied from last night's level to 5c decline but later transactions were at better figures.

HAGENBECK-WALLACE CIRCUS SHOWING HERE TODAY, GAVE FINE STREET PARADE THIS NOON

The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus arrived in Newark about 6 o'clock Thursday morning, coming from Springfield over the Pennsylvania road. The weather was cold and cloudy when the train came into Newark, but a large crowd was lined up along Walnut street as the train pulled in.

After considerable switching the sections were cut at Fourth and Fifth streets and the work of unloading was rapidly completed. It was not long until the scene of activity was transferred to the show grounds, on the J. B. Hershberger field, at the West end of Locust street where the men worked in "shifts," some taking breakfast while others worked at staking out the grounds for the tents. These were erected in an incredibly short time, and every energy was then directed to getting the parade ready to move on time.

The pageant headed by two lady riders dressed as couriers of the early Victorian period was an inspiring sight as it moved over the principal streets of the city, a riot of color, massive in splendor, and with everything as epic and grand as the work of man could make it.

Following the couriers was the great red and gold band wagon drawn by eighteen coal black Arabian horses and filled to overflowing with red coated musicians. Several ladies and gentlemen riders in black and gold costumes came next.

The high steel den containing "Brutus" and "Cesar" the two most magnificent specimens of lions in captivity was included in the first section of the parade. These two handsome animals are the feature of the famous Hagenbeck collection of animals, some 400 in number, carried with the show.

After the animal cages came another band. This one mounted, the musicians displaying considerable dexterity in guiding the horses and at the same time playing martial airs upon their instruments. Several floats of a patriotic nature followed. More riders appeared among them, several teams ridden in tandem fashion.

Excepting for a very few all the animal cages were open. Those closed contained beasts of the jungle in captivity for only a short time. All of the large display wagons and cages were canopied under which sat folks from all parts of the world. There were Abyssinians, Japanese, Hindoos, Malays, and some whose scant clothing even on the chilly day told of only a short period of civilization.

A clown band, playing the most ludicrous of melodies was also in the parade. Including the band of musicians from funnyland there was a total of five musical organizations in the line of march. A train of chariots to which six horses were hitched driven by ladies; the score of elephants and camels; an army of zebras and ponies and last but not least the calphoe finished the parade.

Following the street parade there was a rush to the circus lot. The side show will all its freaks and wonders and the "pit" show with "Prince Wee-Wee," the smallest elephant of the world and other features did a land office business until the big show opened.

The big show started promptly at two o'clock and the early features of the performances proved the best that ever been seen in this city.

Orpheum Theater.

The list of vaudeville acts which will make up the bill for the show at the Orpheum Theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week are: Feature act, Cline, Joy and Cline in harmony, singing, dancing and comedy; Vera Belmont, character change artist and singing comedienne; Romanella, wizard violinist playing a repertoire extending from rag time to grand opera; the Great Henri, sensational unicycle and roller skating act; the Thurston Sisters, featuring lavish gowns and latest song successes. There will be two reels of pictures each night and on Thursday there will be an added feature, "The Harmonious Four" in numerous quartet numbers.

AT THE TRINITY A. M. E. CHURCH

Last evening at Trinity A. M. E. church the subject was "Quantity and Quality." Tonight the subject will be "The Handwriting on the Wall." The sermon last night was directed toward men. The preacher said, "The world does need more men, but a better quality of men. If our women would live purer lives and demand the same standard of the men with whom they associated our men would lift up a higher moral standard."

C. C. Ross, Prior avenue, has been nursing a case of mumps. While he is at the home of a neighbor with the mumps, his own home is quarantined, the oldest daughter having developed a case of chickenpox.

D. J. Bibler has the cellar dug and walled and the water conductor in for his new home on Maple avenue, just south of his home recently sold to Dr. S. S. Richards.

Wm. O'Bannon is building another new house at west end of Craig street, on next lot east of the cottage sold recently to a party near Brownsville.

Mrs. Pigman, living with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Pine, north end of Maple, is indisposed again and under the physician's care.

Mrs. Clarence Bishop, Craig street, who has been visiting her mother, at Centerburg, has returned to her home in quite poor health. She is now in bed most of her time. She is taking treatment for tuberculosis. Dr. Dillin is her attending physician.

Mrs. Flo Odenburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Long, Evans street, is at the home of her parents quite sick. She had so far recovered that she went to housekeeping, but suffered a relapse and is unable to do any work.

Mrs. Woodyard, east end of Stevens street, is still unable to do any work, but is up and able to walk about the house.

Mrs. Pearl Penick, at home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Berry, Channel street, is still improving nicely from hospital treatment, and will soon be seen out with her friends, unless something unforeseen develops.

Miss Lena Woodyard and her Christian Union Juniors, are planning for an ice cream social in basement of North Newark Christian Union chapel in the near future.

Earl Mahara, east end of Norton, has been ordered by his physician to take to his bed for a few days to await developments, that his disease may be determined.

George Devereaux family, north end of Elmwood avenue, is under quarantine for chickenpox.

Mrs. Howard, corner Maple and

Norton avenues, met with quite a painful accident while down town recently; after talking with a friend on the street she turned toward the sidewalk, slipped, and injured an ankle, and has not been able to walk since.

MONTGOMERY TO RECEIVE OLD FLAG FROM REBEL VETS

Into the hand of William C. Montgomery of Johnstown, for he has but one, next month will be committed the regimental flag of the Seventy-sixth O. V. I., which was captured upon the battle field at Ringgold, Ga., November 26, 1863. It will be presented him at Jacksonville, Fla., by a member of the Confederate regiment which made the capture after the color bearer had fallen.

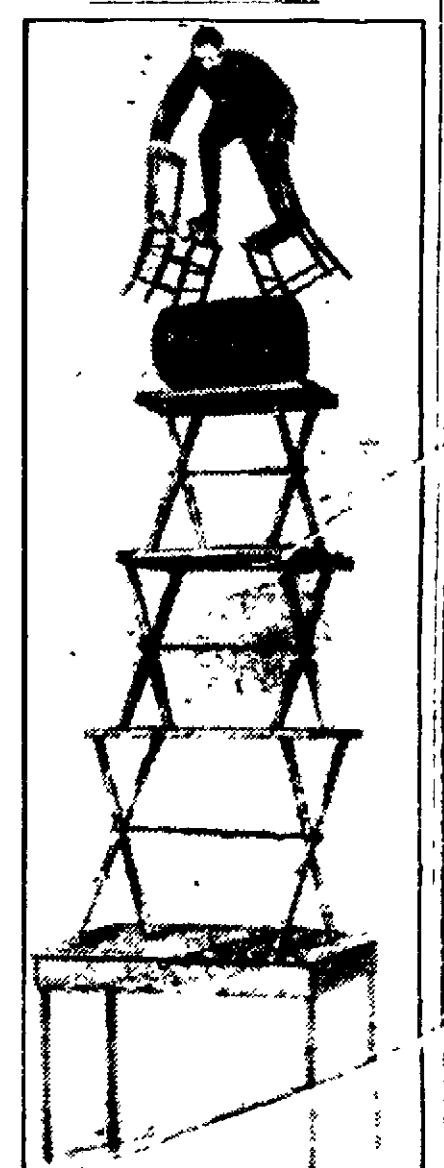

Montgomery, on that bloody day, carried the national colors. He saved them, but lost an arm. He was one of a committee appointed by Adjutant General Wood to receive the old banner, all of them being members of the Seventy-sixth regiment. Besides him there are Col. Charles H. Kibler of Newark, Lieut. J. L. Rhodabach of Johnstown, Lieut. Wm. Held of Cleveland, and Marion Christman of Newark, president of the Regimental association.

The presentation will be made at the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, May 6, and the accompanying address will be delivered by Mrs. Townsend Randolph Leigh, historian of the Alabama division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Upon the return of the committee to Ohio the colors will be formally delivered to Governor James M. Cox and placed in the relic room of the capitol, side by side with the regiment's national flag, from which it was so rudely divorced 51 years ago. Preparations are being made in Jacksonville for elaborate ceremonies to mark the coming of the veteran boys in blue, who will be attended from Ohio by an escort of honor.

He also claimed to have served time at Jefferson City Mo., prison for the murder of a man in St. Louis.

Wing's father, Rumsey Wing, was celebrated as a diplomat and served as United States minister to several of the Central American countries.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and glossy at once.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Newark Playground.

The hundreds of people who contributed to the playground fund and the thousands of boys and girls who visit the playground in Eleventh street are wondering why the "swimming hole" is not to be used this year. The creek is the most valuable asset of the Eleventh street playground and yet it is to be of little advantage to the boys and girls this season. Why? We are told that it is because a sewer enters the creek above the playground. How did that happen? Should a sanitary sewer be allowed to empty into a stream that flows through the heart of the city? Isn't there a better way to take care of the refuse? Surely it shouldn't be allowed to drain into this stream that goes through the center of the town.

The Board of Education invested about $5,000 in the Eleventh street recreation ground and the public by cash contributions has invested about that much more. This investment should be protected. While it may inconvenience a few people to abandon the sewer in question it would be of great benefit to thousands to keep the stream pure, not only for the benefit of those who frequent the playgrounds but for reasons that must be apparent to all. What does the local health department say about it?

DON'T GO WEST, IS ADVICE OF THE Y. W. C. A.

The following communication has been sent to the public press throughout the country from San Francisco Y. W. C. A.; we insert it here, hoping that it may meet the eye of some one in need of this warning:
"May we ask your aid in coping with a situation which is rapidly becoming alarming? Women and girls from eastern states are coming to us in constantly increasing numbers. Trained nurses, teachers, stenographers and women from all walks of life, relinquishing good positions in the east, and coming to California, explaining that they have been given to understand through the east, that the Panama-Pacific Exposition will create positions for more women than can possibly be found to fill them. Many of these women are here without money and without friends, and they say that they are already starving. If the condition is such now, what will it be in a few months?
"We appeal to you to reach the women and girls in your state, through the press, or by whatever agencies you may deem most efficacious, impressing upon them the seriousness of the situation and the fact that there are already in California more than enough women to fill every position which is now open, or which might be created as the result of the exposition."

NEWEST CAR DIFFERS FROM OTHER MOTORS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Indianapolis, May 30.—With the entry of three Great Western cars, the list of contestants in the next five-hundred-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway has reached thirty, the limit number that will be allowed to start the contest. This is nine more than were registered at this time last year, proving that a revival of the automobile racing game on a magnificent scale is in order.

Sponsors for the machines are Johnny Jenkins, an Indianapolis motor expert who graduated honorably from the prize ring, having a four round draw in San Francisco with one Willux Britt to his credit. J. A. Hemkins, his brother, and Edward A. Myers, an official in the Pittsburg motors concern whose power plant is being used. Jenkins himself will drive one of the cars, and Ray Prize, a local boy, the other. The man for the third has not been selected as yet.

In construction the Great Westerns present many unusual features, chief of which is the Carter piston valve motor they employ, an extremely novel design of recent invention. Its distinguishing characteristic is the absence of the ordinary valve gear, with its attendant complexities. An engine speed of 4,500 revolutions per minute has been attained, it is stated, without any of the vibration or loss of power attendant upon the usual type.

In size the cars are rather insignificant, having but a 106-inch wheel base. Their engines, however, at least two of them, closely approach the speedway limit, measuring 444 cubic inches, with a bore and stroke of 4.2x5.7. The third engine is the baby of the outfit, mounting a power plant of only 254 cubic inches, with a bore and stroke of 3.7x5.7. Underslung frame construction is employed throughout.

Should any more racers enter the Indianapolis contest, the holding of elimination trials to determine the thirty fastest cars is assured. This will make the period preceding the contest almost as fascinating as the race itself, the followers of each machine pulling for it to stay in the game. A lively time is expected.

The total field to date is as follows: Burman, Burman and one other; Peugeot, Bollot, Goux, and Duray; Delage, Givrot and Thomas; Sunbeam, Chasagne and Grant; Mercedes, De Palma and Mulford; Excelsior, Christiansen; Stutz, Oldfield, Conner and Anderson; Mercer, Bragg, Pullen, and Wishart; Marmon, Pawson, Maxwell, Tezloff, Carlson, and one other; King, Klein; Gray Fox, Wilson, Beaver, Bullett, Keene; Stafford, Callahan; Metrol, Hogan; and Great Western. Jenkins, Price, and one other.

CAPITAL FEARED LONG STRUGGLE

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, April 30.—[Special.]—It is going to be a long war in the opinion of men in a position to judge of all the conditions. In the first place, the present administration will not recognize Huerta, and it will be a long time before Huerta can be displaced, although it has been the hope of the administration for the past thirteen months that he would have to give up his position because the United States government failed to recognize him.

It will be a long war because the various factions of Mexico cannot be brought together, and meanwhile the United States will have to continue in control of Mexico. That a guerrilla warfare will be kept up as long as the United States is in that country is another prediction by those who understand the Mexican character.

A Gloomy Outlook.

It is a rather gloomy outlook which the majority of the people have of the situation that has developed, and opinion is divided as to whether the United States can ever retire from Mexico, having once entered that country by force. The distracted condition of the people, their poverty, the ability of many bands to maintain themselves in the mountains and jungles of Mexico, has been commented upon by army officers who fear that there is a possibility of many disasters to American soldiers in which they have no even chance as in a fair fight against ordinary troops.

It has been pointed out that the war with Spain was easily terminated because Spain withdrew across the ocean and Cuba was left under our protection. Mexico cannot withdraw, and there must either be a Mexican government or the United States must control that country in the future.

Nelson's Speech.

Senator Nelson of Minnesota had a speech which was very much prolonged on inspection and grading of grain. In the first place it was a lengthy speech and then it was split up into "takes." Senator McCumber remarked that Senator Nelson had been trying to make a speech for the last three weeks. Senator Nelson himself one day remarked that he would like to go on and finish his speech. "I think," he said, "in justice and fairness we who cannot go off and play golf like some senators should have a little rest."

Hard to Cut Down Expenses.

Chairman Hay of the military committee cut the army appropriations down to the limit. The senate raised them and there was a long dispute. Then came the Mexican war, and Chairman Hay had to yield immediately, because the money asked by the war department had to be appropriated for war purposes. It is rather hard to economize in military matters when there is a war on. The men who advocate a no battleship program do not have much of a show at the present time.

Different Peace Methods.

The discussion of the naval appropriation bill brought out some curious ideas as to peace and war. Congressman Foss of Ohio interrupted Congressman Kelley of Michigan, who was making a speech on the naval bill. "Are you going on the basis that peace will be secured by disarmament of nations?" asked Foss.

"No," replied Kelley. "I am going on the basis that as long as there is a war spirit in the world it would be foolish for this great republic not to be prepared to resist aggression." A little further along in answer to a question.

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved
by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Logansport, Ind.—"My baby was over a year old and I was a burden to myself. I suffered from female trouble so I could not stand on my feet and I felt like millions of needles were pressing me all over. At last my doctor told me that all that would save me was an operation, but this I refused. I told my husband to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I would try it. I did and I improved right away. I am now doing all my work and feeling fine."

"I hope other suffering women will try your Compound. I was recommended to all I know."—Mrs. D. N. D. Davis, 110 Frank St., Logansport, Ind.

Since we guarantee that a testimonial which we publish is not fair to submit that of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner.

If you are do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., confidential, Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman who holds in strict confidence.

Your Baby Should Not Eat This Cake

tion by Madden of Illinois Kelley declared: "The American people are against war, except as a last resort. If war comes we will not be the aggressors."

He also said that we did not want war and spoke about being forced into war in defense of our liberties.

The Suave Senator Lewis.

Senator Lewis was making a serious speech, but when interrupted by Senator Gallinger he dropped into his usual vein of brilliant repartee. In the course of their colloquy the New Hampshire senator said that Mr. Lewis was offensive. This Lewis disclaimed. "It was not my purpose to be offensive," said he, "and, while I may yet indulge in a gentle passage of arms, I assure the senator that my sword when leveled toward him is tipped with a rose."

Defending Roosevelt.

Victor Murdock, the leader of the house Progressives, felt it necessary to make a vigorous speech in defense of Colonel Roosevelt and his policy in regard to Colombia. Murdock declared that to apologize to Colombia and pay her $25,000,000 was "to cloud the greatest physical achievement possible in the western hemisphere with an expression of regret to a blackmailing faction in Colombia."

Cleanliness Kills Flies.

HOW do flies live through the winter? A few lazy, logy flies can be found half dead, but still living, around chimneys and warm places in the house or stable. They will come to life just as soon as the boys begin playing marbles.

If no garbage or filth were to be found the female flies would die and the stock might be lost.

We must keep things clean to keep flies from breeding. When they have come we can catch them with fly paper or fly traps or kill them with fly poison. We can keep them out of the house by keeping the windows and doors screened.

They crawl into the sugar, the milk and the bread. They have just been crawling into other places. They get typhoid germs and give you typhoid. They get consumption and spread it.

HEBRON.

A large and appreciative audience greeted the blind musician, Harry C. Smith, at Church of Christ Sunday afternoon and an offering of $9.00 was freely given for his benefit.

Mrs. Mabel M. M. was hostess to the Presilla Club on Wednesday afternoon. Forty members responded to roll call. Guests, Mrs. Helen Lorenz and Mrs. August Rosch, were present. The ladies voted in as members of the club. The business session was followed by a delicious luncheon. The next meeting will be with Mrs. M. C. Combs, May 21.

AUTO 'PHONE FOR ONE YEAR, FINE PRIZE

This is the Auto 'Phone which will be given as a prize in the Advocate Booklover's Contest, and was purchased from the Newark Telephone Company for one year. If you already have a phone and should be on a party line you can be changed to an exclusive line for a year's service free. This means $21.00 to you.

This telephone is one of the 1100 phones in the new telephone system with exchanges at Newark, Granville, Hanover, Somerset, and Trenton. With exchange being built at Louisville.

which will be in operation June 1, and on April 1, the Newark Telephone took over a lease on the property of the Gratiot Telephone Company for a period of 99 years.

There are now 1,100 telephones in the city of Newark making an average of one to every seven and one-half people while from a point of development is only exceeded in a few places in the United States. There is only one or two places in the world that have as large a number of daily conversations for each telephone line and service. These two facts show the popularity of the service of the Newark Telephone and the splendid success attained under the capable management of Mr. Chas. E. Hollander.

Would you like this prize? It is surely worth trying for in the Book-lovers' Contest.

The municipal wells which supply Girard, Kansas, with water, have for some unknown reason been getting warmer for the last two weeks, and are at present giving water so hot that it has melted the rubber valves and cannot be used.

The road to health and strength and palate-joy after a season of heavy diet is through a return to simple foods like

SHREDDED WHEAT and Strawberries

Cut out meat and potatoes for a while and try this dish—a dainty, delicious, nourishing meal. Because of its porous shreds and its biscuit form Shredded Wheat combines most naturally and deliciously with all kinds of fresh fruits.

Heat one or more Biscuits in the oven to restore crispness; then cover with berries or other fresh fruit; serve with milk or cream and sweeten to suit the taste. Better than soggy white flour "short-cake".

SETTLEMENT OF MEXICAN TROUBLE MAY BRING DIAZ

(Associated Press Telegram)
Paris, April 30.—Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, has sent an answer to General Rafael Reyes concerning the latter's recent effort to compose the Mexican difficulty. General Diaz says:

"I have received a copy of your dispatches to President Wilson, provisional President Huerta, Venustiano Carranza and Francisco Villa. I am profoundly touched by the generous impulse of your noble heart in favor of the cause of Mexico, and I am grateful for your flattering, although unmerited, appreciation of me personally. I hope to see you in a few days."

General Reyes, a former president of the republic of Colombia, has been devoting his energies of recent years to strengthening the union of Latin-American countries. Four days ago he addressed a dispatch to President Wilson and the Mexican leaders referred to by General Diaz suggesting that recourse be had to Porfirio Diaz for a solution of the present crisis. A copy of this communication was transmitted to Diaz.

General Diaz is at Monte Carlo.

GARRISON GAVE HIMSELF UP TO JAILER M'CLURE

Ernest Garrison, wanted by the local police on a charge of assaulting Patrolman Grecky, presented himself at the office of Jailer M'Clure at the city prison at 10.15 o'clock Wednesday night and asked to be locked up. He was intoxicated and a charge of drunk and assault was placed against him. Dr. Knauss recommended that he be sent where he could receive medical attention so he was fined $5 and costs in police court Thursday morning and ordered committed to the county jail. The charge of assaulting the officer will be prosecuted later.

CARRANZA

(Continued from Page 1.) constitutionalists to join the armistice proposed between the United States and Huerta, has been made by the mediating envoys. The proposal was forwarded to General Carranza following his acceptance of the good offices of Brazil, Argentina and Chile, and is a part of the plan of the envoys to secure general cessation of hostilities in all Mexico pending the mediation negotiations.

When the mediators envoys adjourned their conference for luncheon, it was declared they were awaiting word direct from General Carranza, as to whether he would agree to an armistice.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 20.—The report from Mexico City that the port of Manzanillo, on the Pacific coast had been bombed by an American warship, was denied at the White House today. Investigation disclosed that a conflagration, said to have been of incendiary origin, had occurred there, but American forces had nothing to do with it.

The White House communicated with Secretary of the navy Daniels early in the day with relation to the Manzanillo report and also the dispatches that American marines had landed at Salina Cruz.

Admiral Howard, commander of the American naval forces on the Pacific coast replying to inquiries from the Secretary of the Navy told of the conflagration at Manzanillo and also denied that American marines had landed at Salina Cruz.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 20.—Swift developments in the Mexican crisis that brought Carranza, the constitutionalists chief, within the scope of settlement plans, presented a broadened field of endeavor to the South American mediators today and it was believed their next move would be a request for an armistice between Huerta and the northern rebels. Carranza's entry into this first big attempt of Pan American diplomacy was commended early today by his acceptance in principle of the tender of the good offices of Argentina, Brazil and Chile. His reply, forwarded from Chihuahua, thanked the envoys for their offer in an attempt to solve in a peaceful and friendly way the differences between Mexico and United States. It was pointed out that Carranza made no reference whatever to Mexico's internal strife. Whether that might have any effect upon the reports proposal of the mediators to ask for a cessation of hostilities between the constitutionalists and Huerta's army could not be foreseen.

Carranza's acceptance of the invitation to enter into the preliminaries of proposed mediation practically brings within range of the aim of the three envoys all elements affected by the long strife in the southern republic. That development followed the request of the mediators that Huerta and the United States government suspend all military aggression pending the outcome of the mediation attempt. The mediators believed today such an armistice would be agreed to. In its reply to the armistice proposal the American government will stipulate that any untoward act aimed at Americans in Mexico will be regarded as a violation of the truce.

Carranza's entry as a factor in mediation was slightly surprising in official circles where first it had been believed that the intermediaries would confine their efforts to prevention of strife between the Huerta Government and the United States. It developed, however, that they pitched their endeavors at settling the entire vexing problem. Carranza's acceptance was pleasing to President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan and today their hopes of a broad and satisfactory adjustment of the Mexican crisis apparently were raised. In the event that each factor in the three cornered problem of diplomacy were to agree to a general truce, the next move of the envoys could not be foreseen.

What demands like a would be made on all sides and what might be conceded, were absorbing conversation topics in diplomatic and official circles today. Up to this time neither Huerta nor the Washington government has signified what points will be demanded if terms for mediation are reached.

touch with the navy department up to a late hour last night had reported that quiet prevailed on the western coast.

The diplomatic situation today continues to overshadow interest in plans of the army and navy for further developments. Assumption of Supreme command at Vera Cruz by Dr. Gen. Huerta was a feature of the day in the southern field, while provision for the hundreds of refugees arriving at United States ports and care of those who still remain in Mexico of military officials busy.

NEWARK BOY IS DEPUTY SHERIFF IN STRIKE ZONE

In a letter just received from Rodger Prior by his father, H. H. Prior, the former Newark young man writes from Berwin, Colo., of his experience in the scenes of strife attending the serious Colorado miners' strike. Young Mr. Prior is a deputy sheriff detailed to duty in the strike zone.

In part the letter says: "This is one delightful place out here, not. This is no place for a nervous lady or a business man prostrated with the heat. Believe me, if I ever get out of Colorado alive, I'll never get into it again, take it from your Uncle Dudley. We've had more people killed here in the last week than I thought would die in the next five years and that's only part of the story. The civil authorities and the strikers decided, or rather the military officials granted the strikers two days to bury their dead, and tomorrow at noon (April 27) the battle starts again. And if it continues after the first of the month I am going to get clear out of here into Mexico where things are quiet. Huh, the Mexican war is a big joke besides the civil war in Colorado, you can just take it from me. The total number of dead up to date is about 35 and the same number wounded on the strikers' side, and about four or five on the companies' side, including the militia. The strikers' have taken Trinidad. The company had a machine gun on top of the First National bank building and one on top of the company store in Trinidad. There was a riot at the jail. They took charge of the jail and released all the prisoners. It isn't the miners who are gaining anything, it's the agitators who are posing as head of the miners' union who are drawing princely salaries and hoodwinking the poor, ignorant miners out of their homes and their families and the rights they had."

FIGHTING

(Continued from Page 1.) fallen 150 feet from the point at which the strikers then were. So hot was the fire that the militiamen were unable to advance to the point where Major Lester's body lay, and were fully occupied in defending themselves.

For two hours more the fighting continued and finally the strikers withdrew, carrying their guns with them.

MORE TROOPS ARE ARRIVING AT TRINIDAD

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Trinidad, Colo., April 20.—The second squadron of the Fifth U. S. cavalry, from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, 300 men, in command of Major W. A. Holbrook, reached here this morning. The troops were greeted at the station by acting Major M. J. Kahn, director of the chamber of commerce and a committee of business men.

Major Holbrook issued the following statement: "The president has sent us here to put out the provisions of his plan. It is not the purpose of the United States to inject itself into a controversy now existing between the miners and their former employers in this state. The president and those acting under him desire at the return of normal conditions be brought about without bloodshed, and in order that this may be accomplished we ask all abiding citizens to carefully read the proclamation and comply with it."

WAR IS STARTED

ON CATARRH AND DISEASES OF THE STOMACH, LIVER AND KIDNEYS AND DAY AFTER DAY THE GRAND OLD QUAKER REMEDIES ARE GAINING VICTORIES.

Here is a report of Mr. W. A. Wallace, who lives at 2513 West Main Street, Richmond, Va., occupation street car conductor. Mr. Wallace has been employed for the past seven years by the Virgin Railway and Power Company as conductor on the street railway. For the past two years he has had an awful lot of trouble with his stomach and bowels, a pain in the right side, was told he had appendicitis, bowels would bloat to an awful size, but like something gnawing at navel or was eating away his insides. Sometimes the pain was so bad he had mustard plaster put on his lower back, was taking everything he could get, but nothing he had ever tried seemed to benefit him. A friend told him about the Quaker Herb Extract at the Tragues Drug Store, and what a wonderful work it was doing. He had his wife call at Tragues and purchase one bottle of Quaker Extract, and it seemed a Godsend for he received more benefits from the very first dose than anything he had ever taken, and after using one bottle about ten days, stated to the Quaker Health Teacher that the Quaker Remedies are the greatest remedies in the world, for they do the work that no other treatment could do, and I will certainly recommend them to anyone who I may come in contact with that are suffering.

The Health Teacher is proving what he said he would when he first came that he would give you names of people who would receive benefits from the use of the great Quaker Remedies. Many reports are being received daily from all parts from people who are using the remedies for Catarrh, Stomach Troubles, Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Constipation and Blood Troubles. Gaskins still invites all who are suffering from any of the above troubles, or worms of any kind, to call and have a talk with him. It will cost you nothing to talk. He can be seen at the City Drug Store, Third and Main streets, Newark, Ohio, daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and is still offering Quaker Herb Extract at six bottles for $5.00, three for $2.75, or $1.00 single bottle. Oil of Balm, for all aches or pains, 50c. Quaker Cough Syrup, for cough, colds or bronchial troubles, 25c. All Healing Salve, for piles, corns or old sores, 25c. Come at once if you want to see him personally.
